

For more information:

Zev Steinhauer
Office: 718-907-8864
Cell: 917-676-7223
Email: zev@jcm.museum
www.jcm.museum

Red Sea Splits in Re-creation of the Passover Exodus at the Jewish Children's Museum

New York, March 5 -- Beginning on March 5, and running through April 17, the only Jewish Children's Museum in the world will bring to life in a fully interactive show, the biblical account of the Jewish slavery in Egypt. This event will coincide with the Passover season, which commemorates the Jews' slavery in Egypt and subsequent journey to freedom. Exodus is located on the fourth floor of the Jewish Children's Museum, 792 Eastern Parkway, in Brooklyn, NY.

Exodus is designed to give people – particularly children – a peek into the colorful history of the Jewish people, not only through hearing about it, but by actually experiencing it. The show begins with participants climbing into a “time machine” for the journey back into ancient Egypt. Upon “arrival” visitors make stops in Pharaoh's palace to witness the Ten Plagues, watch Moses demand of Pharaoh: “Let my people go!,” walk through the splitting sea and cross the desert to receive the Ten Commandments at Mount Sinai. Finally, they have the opportunity to make and bake their very own matzah. No detail is overlooked in this spectacular voyage through history.

General Public: Sundays - 11:00am; 12:30pm; 2:00pm; 3:30pm; 5:00pm; 6:30pm

Group visits: Mon.–Thurs. 9:30am – 2:00pm.

Why: The show is timed to coincide with the upcoming Passover season which commemorates the exodus. No detail is overlooked; nothing is left to imagination in this spectacular voyage through history.

Where: On the fourth floor of the Jewish Children's Museum 792 Eastern Parkway Brooklyn, NY

When: March 5 through April 17, 2006; Multiple Shows Daily
Sundays: 11:00am; 12:30pm; 2:00pm; 3:30pm; 5:00pm; 6:30pm

Cost: $15 for Museum Admission Including “Exodus,” $10 for “Exodus” alone. To Purchase tickets go to www.jewishtickets.com or call 718-907-8813

With limited showings available tickets must be purchased in advance. Tickets must be purchased to guarantee admission.

Group visit: Mon.–Thurs. 9:30am – 3:30pm, Please contact “Exodus” at: 718-907-8814 or email; exodus@jcm.museum to reserve.

Corporate sponsors of “Exodus” are: ShopRite, North Fork bank, Manischewitz & The Jewish Press.

Visit www.exodus06.com for more information.

The Jewish Children’s Museum is located at 792 Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn, NY and is accessible via the B43 bus to Eastern Parkway or the 3 train to Kingston Avenue.

The Jewish Children’s Museum is successfully working to bridge the cultural gap in our community through innovative hands-on exhibits and interactive displays. Presenting key Jewish concepts in fun and informative ways, the Museum continues to receive rave reviews from educators, parents and most importantly, from children themselves. Visit www.jcm.museum to find out more.