Fifteen years ago, a dream became a reality with the opening of the Jewish Children's Museum (JCM). The JCM has since expanded, developing into a most unique and exciting museum experience. It has become a destination for all seeking to learn about the Jewish culture and heritage—whether they are familiar with this culture, and equally important, if they are hoping to learn about a culture unfamiliar to them.

The rise in anti-Semitism around the world has strengthened the JCM's resolve to bring communities together in a welcoming atmosphere, where people can ask questions and discover in an interactive format. With skilled tour guides, visitors gain a depth of understanding about Jewish culture. The JCM is incredibly proud to be at the forefront of this change, reducing anti-Semitism one child at a time, and to have spent 15 years building a family that values tolerance & understanding.

The JCM originated from a place of darkness, when tenth-grader Ari Halberstam was killed on the Brooklyn Bridge by a terrorist 25 years ago. In his memory, the JCM was born. The museum's activities bring light every day to Brooklyn, and the effect ripples throughout the world.

As we celebrate 15 years of initiatives, exhibits, programs, and over Three Million Visitors, we joyfully look to the future, to expand our efforts and continue to weave the tapestry of people in our world together.
